

Fullflow Group benefits from international growth.

The success of  Fullflow International has seen exponential growth over the past 12 months, with the expectation that this growth will continue well into 2018 and beyond.

With an increase in sales within Europe, particularly Spain, and the Middle East, combined with the successful completion of projects for the 2016 Rio de Janeiro Olympic Games and other prestigious projects in South America, the future looks bright for Fullflow International, who are a part of the Fullflow Group.

The processes of selling, agreeing and finalising contracts, design work and project management are all undertaken by the experienced staff of Fullflow International. Plasflow Limited, who as manufacturers and suppliers of the modular polyethylene syphonic systems, ensure that the materials arrive on site in a timely manner, no matter where in the world the project may be, efficiently supports this excellent work.

Should you have any requirements for syphonic roof drainage for projects outside the UK, please don't hesitate to contact our International staff, who will be only to please to provide you with an efficient engineering solution.
